

The body of section B follows its heading. If the renderer places the heading at the very bottom of a page and this paragraph on the next, the reader must turn the page to discover what the heading was introducing.

Source: FICTIONAL. Boundary fixture record, retrieved 2026-08-30; locator boundary-fixture-2026-08-30.json, object path $.records[0].locator, which is long enough that tearing it across a page break makes the reference unusable.

Corroboration: FICTIONAL. Second locator line, deliberately multiline, so that a renderer without keep-together splits this block at whatever line the page ends.